

LONDONERS FIGHT FOR SEATS

Scene of Pushing and Struggling Unparalleled in World, Declares Indignant Newspaper.

Is it not possible for the authorities to regulate and control the struggle for places in the metropolitan omnibuses which takes place every evening? asks the London Globe. Any stranger to London who happens upon one of the termini of the routes at the time when the people are trying to return to their homes must be shocked at the spectacle. The less vigorous, the most tired, are remorselessly thrust aside, and a seat in an omnibus becomes something which must be fought for as well as purchased.

Such a scene of pushing and struggling is not to be paralleled in any other capital in the world, and, as every policeman knows, it is the pickpocket's big opportunity. English people have a healthy dislike for being over-regulated, but things have got to that pass that the most independent will recognize that some rules are really required. In Paris the difficulty has been completely overcome by the simple expedient of issuing numbered tickets, which entitle the holder to a given seat, and which must be taken up before he attempts to occupy it.

PICKED UP A GOOD THING

Inside History of Senator Clark's Acquisition of the Famous United Verde Copper Mine.

Not many years ago a certain wealthy man picked up a likely looking copper mine at the bargain price of $40,000. As he was deeply interested in another mining property at the time, he gave comparatively little attention to his newest acquisition.

After four months had elapsed another wealthy man made the first bidder an offer of $350,000 for his mining property. The latter figured this way: "The $350,000 is equivalent to 875 per cent on the original investment, or at the rate of 2,625 per cent per annum. Not so bad—" and he accepted the offer. The purchaser since that time has taken more than $100,000,000 out of that copper mine and it still yields him an income estimated at $600,000 a month.

The seller was Col. Robert M. Thompson; the buyer, Senator William A. Clark, and the mine, the United Verde.

SOLICITUDE.

"You don't know how I worry my husband," said the tired-looking woman as she leaned on her broom for a moment.

"Why, there's nothing to worry about," answered the neighbor. "He's sitting in a chair on the back porch fast asleep."

"Yes. But sometime when I'm not there to look after him he's going to fall out of that chair and hurt himself."

IMPOSSIBLE.

Insurance Agent—"It was you who set the house on fire with your alcohol lamp."

Tenant—"Me? Not on your life. First thing, I haven't a lamp, and second, I'm a lifelong member of the Temperance league.—Journal Amusement."

SHE HAD OTHER VIEWS.

"I don't care if he is a millionaire. He's perfectly outrageous for you to think of spending your young life with that old thing."

"Oh, that isn't all I think of spending, mother, dear.—Life."

NOT SO BAD, AFTER ALL.

"That was an awful thing—bathing man held up by a footpad."

"Oh, not so terrible. Wasn't the man covered by the burglar's pistol?"

WHAT IT INDICATED.

"Do I get anything with this motor boat but the craft itself?"

"Yes, you get my wharf and my repairman rights."

FORGOT NOTHING.

Belle—Got a letter from Betty. Beulah—Did she forget anything? "I guess not. It's got nineteen postscripts on it."

THE OBJECT.

"Jiggs has a breezy style about him."

"That's how he manages to raise the wind."

FULL CREW SWAMPED

People of Missouri Repudiate Measure by 164,492 Majority.

St. Louis, Nov. 17. Complete official figures show the majority given by the State of Missouri against the Full Crew Bill to be three times as great as the estimate based on early returns. There were 324,085 votes against and 159,593 in favor, a majority of 164,492 in opposition to the bill, making the vote more than two to one against it. Outside of the three principal cities, St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, the measure received only 36,660 votes in the State and was beaten by a ratio of about three to one. The farmers in every section voted almost solidly against it.

The city of St. Louis, in which the Brotherhood of Trainmen looked for a big majority for their bill, went against it by 18,417 votes. In Kansas City, where it was aided by a local political fight and in St. Joseph, where its friends made an especially vigorous campaign, it carried.

Special interest was attached to the election all over the United States, as it was the first time any regulation affecting railroads was submitted to a vote of the people. W. G. Lee of Cleveland, Ohio, national head of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, came to Missouri and personally conducted the campaign for his organization. The Missouri statutes prevented the roads making an active campaign, whereas the members of the Trainmen's Union were free to work as they saw fit in behalf of the measure and spent vast sums of money. The majority cast against the bill is one of the greatest in the history of Missouri, and is far bigger than the State has ever given any candidate for office.

After the Legislature passed the measure, the railroads under the referendum, brought it before the people for a vote. Railroad officials are jubilant over the result and declare it a striking and uncontested evidence that the farmers and people of the State generally are now in sympathy with the transportation companies and in favor of giving them fair play, and that Railroad baiting has ceased to be popular.

Creates Strength Woman Tells About Vinol

Fort Edward, N. Y.—"I was weak, run-down, nervous and dizzy. I tried cod liver oil emulsions and other remedies without benefit. A friend told me about Vinol and after taking two bottles I am strong and well so I can do my own housework once more."—Mrs. ELMER GLADEN, Fort Edward, N. Y.

If Vinol fails to create strength and energy for the run-down, weak and debilitated, we return your money.

POSITIVE PROOF

Skeptic in Lexington. Because it's the evidence of a Lexington citizen.

Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it: "My kidneys troubled me and one of our best physicians didn't help me," says C. S. Mitchell, farmer, of Lexington. "It was hard for me to control the kidney secretions. Finally, I used Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys were strengthened and I don't have any trouble now. The endorsement I have previously given for Doan's Kidney Pills holds good."

Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Mitchell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
